20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

The Secretary of Commerce, pursuant to duties imposed by law upon the U.S. Department of Commerce including under the Global Change Research Act of 1990, 15 U.S.C. §§ 2921 et seq., and the Federal Advisory Committee Act (FACA), as amended, 5 U.S.C. App., and with the concurrence of the General Services Administration, hereby establishes the National Climate Assessment Development and Advisory Committee (the committee).

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

a. To assure a balanced representation of views among preeminent scientists, educators, and other experts reflecting the full scope of issues addressed in the National Climate Assessment, the committee shall have 60 members. Members shall include non-federal experts who serve as special government employees (SGEs) and federal officials who represent their agencies and serve as non-voting ex officio members. Ex officio members shall participate in all activities of the committee. b. The Under Secretary shall select and appoint members. Members will be selected for appointment on a clear and standardized basis in accordance with applicable Department of Commerce guidance. Ex officio members shall include at least one representative from each of the USGCRP participating departments and agencies, subject to such departments or agencies' desire to participate through representative membership in the committee. c. In addition to receiving views from its members, the committee shall receive information and guidance from the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy. d. Each member shall be appointed for an initial term of three years and shall serve at the discretion of the Under Secretary. Members may be reappointed for successive terms. e. The chair or co-chairs shall be selected by the Under Secretary and shall serve at her or his discretion. Members who are SGEs shall comply with the ethical standards applicable to SGEs. Ex officio members shall comply with the ethical standards applicable to federal employees.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

Estimated Number of Meetings per Year - 3. Estimated Total Meetings - 6. Meetings are expected to be held at points in the assessment process when key decisions are needed in the development of the assessment report.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

The committee's mission is to synthesize and summarize the science and information pertaining to current and future impacts of climate change upon the United States; and to provide advice and recommendations toward the development of an ongoing, sustainable national assessment of global change impacts and adaptation and mitigation strategies for the Nation. Within the scope of its mission, the committee's specific objective is to produce a National Climate Assessment that:

- a. Integrates, evaluates, and interprets the findings of the U.S. Global Change Research Program (USGCRP) and discusses the scientific uncertainties with such findings;
- b. Analyzes the effects of current and projected climate change upon ecosystems and biological diversity, agriculture, energy production and use, land and water resources, transportation, human health and welfare, and social systems, including in a regional context;
- c. Analyzes current trends in global change, both human-induced and natural, and projects major trends for the subsequent 25 to 100 years;
- d. Provides guidance on establishing a continuing, inclusive National process that synthesizes relevant science and information about changes in the Earth system as they affect the Nation's climate and about how such changes relate to and interact with changes in social, economic, ecological, and technological systems; and
- e. Support climate-related decisions by providing an information base in multiple formats, including web-based and hard copy formats.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?
